Thukeri

An Aboriginal Dreamtime story relating greediness and an unwilling attitude to share as a negative value. As a result of actions demonstrated by the two Aboriginal fishermen all silver bream fish are now filled with bones.
We watch the retell of the Thukeri story by some students on the web. They had made props using clay and filmed an animated version as they retold the story.
We watch the retell of the Thukeri story by students. They had made props using clay and filmed an animated version as they retold the story.

We use concrete resources to show the characters and the setting while we act out the events to retell the story.
Our structured play is important to reinforce and consolidate our learning.

We enjoy fishing for silver bream while using fine motor skills to ‘catch’ the paper clipped thukeri (fish) with the magnet on the end of a stick fishing line.

We can relate the story in our own words as we try to remember the events, details and feelings.